Partial Retirement of Investment Corporation Bonds by Purchase

HEIWA REAL ESTATE REIT, Inc. (the “Investment Corporation”) announced today that it has decided to execute partial retirement of investment corporation bonds by purchase.

Details

1. Reason for the Retirement by Purchase

The Investment Corporation has been striving to establish a stable financial base, and as part of such efforts, the Investment Corporation will execute the retirement by purchase with the purpose of reducing interest-bearing liabilities costs and solid redemption of investment corporation bonds following a partial retirement of investment corporation bonds by purchase conducted on January 30, 2012.

2. Date of Purchase (planned)

February 9, 2012

3. Details of Investment Corporation Bonds to be Retired by Purchase

(1) Name: Crescendo Investment Corporation second unsecured investment corporation bond

(Pari passu clause limited to among specified investment corporation bonds attached)

(2) Total investment corporation bonds: 9,900 million yen

(3) Interest rate: 2.17%

(4) Maturity date: October 31, 2012

(5) Face value of retirement by purchase: 200 million yen

*Please refer to the press releases “Issuance of Investment Corporation Bonds” (Japanese only) dated October 12, 2007 and “Partial Retirement of Investment Corporation Bonds by Purchase” dated January 25, 2012 for details.

4. Purchase Financing

Purchase will be executed using cash on hand.

5. Future Outlook

Partial retirement of investment corporation bonds by purchase will have a minimal impact on the management situation of the Investment Corporation for the fiscal period ending May 2012 (December 1, 2011 to May 31, 2012), and no change has been made to the performance forecast for the fiscal period.
