Partial Retirement of Investment Corporation Bonds by Purchase

HEIWA REAL ESTATE REIT, Inc. (the “Investment Corporation”) announced today that it has decided to execute partial retirement of investment corporation bonds by purchase.

Details

1. Reason for the Retirement by Purchase

As part of efforts to establish a stable financial base, the Investment Corporation has executed partial retirement of investment corporation bonds by purchase five times (¥900 million in total) with the purpose of reducing interest-bearing liabilities costs and solid redemption of investment corporation bonds.

By executing the retirement by purchase with face value of 100 million yen along with borrowings of 9.0 billion yen in total based on commitment-type term loan agreements announced in the press release “Execution of Commitment-Type Term Loan Agreements and Agreements on Grant of Additional Security Interests” dated March 28, 2012, implementing redemption of the investment corporation bonds (total proceeds of 10.0 billion yen) will be completed.

The Investment Corporation will continue efforts to reduce interest-bearing liabilities costs and further establishing a stable financial base.

2. Date of Purchase (planned)

April 19, 2012

3. Details of Investment Corporation Bonds to be Retired by Purchase

(1) Name: Crescendo Investment Corporation second unsecured investment corporation bond

(Pari passu clause limited to among specified investment corporation bonds attached)

(2) Total investment corporation bonds: 9,100 million yen

(3) Interest rate: 2.17%

(4) Maturity date: October 31, 2012

(5) Face value of retirement by purchase: 100 million yen

*Please refer to the press release “Issuance of Investment Corporation Bonds” (Japanese only) dated October 12, 2007 for details.

4. Purchase Financing

Purchase will be executed using cash on hand.

5. Future Outlook

Partial retirement of investment corporation bonds by purchase will have a minimal impact on the management situation of the Investment Corporation for the fiscal period ending May 2012 (December 1, 2011 to May 31, 2012), and no change has been made to the performance forecast for the fiscal period.
